Our Advice

Domestic abuse includes all types of abuse, including physical violence, sexual, psychological, financial and emotional abuse between people who are or were in a relationship, or are family members over the age of 16.

Some forms of domestic abuse are criminal offences and should be reported to the police.
The law also allows for individuals to apply for orders to protect themselves, called 'nonmolestation' and 'occupation' orders.

A non-molestation order is used to prevent the other party (the Respondent) from carrying out certain acts. The order prohibits them from using or threatening violence against you or a child, or molesting you. The term 'molesting' covers a wide array of behaviours, including direct physical harm such as punching, spitting or verbal abuse or indirect harm such as pestering, persistent abusive messages or pestering/intimidation via a third party.

A non-molestation order can also be used to keep the Respondent away from a certain area, for example prohibiting them from entering a defined area surrounding your house or workplace, or keeping them away from a child's school.

For the Court to make an order, there must be evidence of the Respondent's behaviour, that you and/or your child need protection and that the Respondent's behaviour can only be controlled through obtaining an order.

If the Court make an order against the Respondent, it only comes into force once the Respondent has been served with a copy of the order. The order usually expires after six to 12 months, however a further order can be applied for if it is necessary at the time.

If the Respondent breaches the order, despite the act committed, it is a criminal offence. The punishment for this offence is up to five years' imprisonment.

An occupation order is used to determine who can live at the family home. It can be used to either prevent someone from living at the family home, or set out rules for sharing the family home.

The making of an order will depend on the rights of both parties to live at the home and their relationship. The Court will consider whether you would suffer significant harm if an occupation order is not made.

Other factors the Court will consider, are both parties' housing needs and financial resources and the conduct of each party towards the other. The order is intended to set out temporary living arrangements to give you and the Respondent time to organise where you will live and how to divide your property.

An occupation order usually expires after six months, however it is possible to apply for a further order at that time, if necessary.

Sometimes it will be necessary to apply for an order 'without notice'. This means that the Respondent is not notified about your application and the Court will make a decision without hearing from the Respondent. Without notice applications are made where it would put your safety in danger if the Respondent were to be told about the application, or where the Respondent would try to prevent or persuade you not to make the application. This type of application is also sometimes referred to as 'ex-parte'.

If orders are made without notice, the Court will always schedule a hearing as soon as possible to allow the Respondent to respond to the application.

Next Steps

I will need to prepare your application together with a statement detailing the events leading to you applying for a non-molestation or occupation order.

I will also require you to sign and return the enclosed client care documentation as soon as possible.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me. I would encourage you to send any responses via our secure online portal where you will also be able to check the progress of your case. If you have any trouble accessing the internet would you please let me know. We send documents out to you via our secure portal to protect your personal data, however if you are unable to access the internet easily, I can arrange for correspondence to be sent to you via post or another means.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,

Application for non-molestation order or occupation order
Notes for guidance

Section 1

If you do not wish your address to be made known to the respondent, leave the space on the form blank and complete Confidential Address Form C8. The court can give you this form.

If you are under 18, someone over 18 must help you make this application. That person, who might be one of your parents, is called a 'next friend'.

If you are under 16, you need permission to make this application. You must apply to the High Court for permission, using this form. If the High Court gives you permission to make this application, it will then either hear the application itself or transfer it to a county court.

Section 3

An urgent order made by the court before the notice of the application is served on the respondent is called an ex-parte order.

In deciding whether to make an ex-parte order the court will consider all the circumstances of the case, including:

- any risk of significant harm to the applicant or a relevant child, attributable to conduct of the respondent, if the order is not made immediately

- whether it is likely that the applicant will be deterred or prevented from pursuing the application if an order is not made immediately

- whether there is reason to believe that the respondent is aware of the proceedings but is deliberately evading service and that the applicant or a relevant child will be seriously prejudiced by the delay involved.

If the court makes an ex-parte order, it must give the respondent an opportunity to make representations about the order as soon as just and convenient at a full hearing.

'Harm' in relation to a person who has reached the age of 18 means ill-treatment or the impairment of health, and in relation to a child means ill-treatment or the impairment of health and development.

'Ill-treatment' includes forms of ill-treatment which are not physical and, in relation to a child, includes sexual abuse. The court will require evidence of any harm which you allege in support of your application.

Section 4

For you to be able to apply for an order you must be related to the respondent in one of the ways listed in this section of the form. If you are not related in one of these ways you should seek legal advice.

Cohabitants are two persons who, although not married to each other, nor civil partners of each other, are living together as husband and wife or civil partners. People who have cohabited but have then married or formed a civil partnership will not fall within this category but will fall within the category of married people or people who are civil partners of each other.

Those who live or have lived in the same household do not include people who share the same household because one of them is the other's employee, tenant, lodger or boarder.

You will only be able to apply as a relative of the respondent if you are:

(A) the father, mother, stepfather, stepmother, son, daughter, stepson, stepdaughter, grandmother, grandfather, grandson, granddaughter of the respondent or of the respondent's spouse, former spouse, civil partner or former civil partner.

(B) the brother, sister, uncle, aunt, niece, nephew or first cousin (whether of the full blood or of the half blood or by marriage or by civil partnership) of the respondent or of the respondent's spouse, former spouse, civil partner or former civil partner.

This includes, in relation to a person who is living or has lived with another person as husband and wife or as civil partners, any person who would fall within (A) or (B) if the parties were married to, or civil partners of, each other (for example, your cohabitee's father or brother).

Agreements to marry: You will fall within this category only if you make this application within three years of the termination of the agreement. The court will require the following evidence of the agreement:

      evidence in writing

or   the gift of an engagement ring in contemplation of marriage or   evidence that a ceremony has been entered into in the presence of one or more other persons assembled for the purpose of witnessing it.

Agreements to form a civil partnership: You will fall within this category only if you make this application within three years of the termination of the agreement. The court will require the following evidence of the agreement:

      evidence in writing

or   a gift from one party to the agreement to the other as a token of the agreement or   evidence that a ceremony has been entered into in the presence of one or more other persons assembled for the purpose of witnessing it.

Parents and parental responsibility:

You will fall within this category if both you and the respondent are either the parents of the child or have parental responsibility for that child or   if one of you is the parent and the other has parental responsibility.

Under the Children Act 1989, parental responsibility is held automatically by a child's mother, and by the child's father if he and the mother were married to each other at the time of the child's birth or have married subsequently. Where, a child's father and mother are not married to each other at the time of the child's birth, the father may also acquire parental responsibility for that child, if he registers the birth after 1st December 2003, in accordance with section 4(1)(a) of the Children Act 1989. Where neither of these circumstances apply, the father, in accordance with the provisions of the Children Act 1989, can acquire parental responsibility.

From 30 December 2005, where a person who is not the child's parent ("the step-parent") is married to, or a civil partner of, a parent who has parental responsibility for that child, he or she may also acquire parental responsibility for the child in accordance with the provisions of the Children Act 1989.

From 1st September 2009, specific provision has been made in relation to parental responsibility in certain cases involving assisted reproduction. Parental responsibility is held automatically by a woman if—

- she and the child's mother were in a civil partnership with each other at the time of treatment unless that woman did not consent to the treatment; or

- she is a parent of the child by virtue of section 43 of the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 2008 and subsequently enters into a civil partnership with the mother. A woman who is a parent of the child by virtue of section 43 of the 2008 Act but who does not subsequently enter into a civil partnership with the mother may acquire parental responsibility in accordance with the provisions of section 4ZA of the Children Act 1989

A non-molestation order can forbid the respondent from molesting you or a relevant child. Molestation can include, for example, violence, threats, pestering and other forms of harassment. The court can forbid particular acts of the respondent, molestation in general, or both.

Section 6

If you wish to apply for an occupation order but you are uncertain about your answer to any question in this part of the application form, you should seek legal advice.

(A) A dwelling-house includes any building or part of a building which is occupied as a dwelling; any caravan, houseboat or structure which is occupied as a dwelling; and any yard, garden, garage or outhouse belonging to it and occupied with it.

(C) & (D) The following questions give examples to help you to decide if you or the respondent, or both of you, are entitled to occupy the dwelling-house:

(a) Are you the sole legal owner of the dwelling-house?
(b) Are you and the respondent joint legal owners of the dwelling-house?
(c) Is the respondent the sole legal owner of the dwelling-house?
(d) Do you rent the dwelling-house as a sole tenant?
(e) Do you and the respondent rent the dwelling-house as joint tenants?
(f) Does the respondent rent the dwelling-house as a sole tenant?

If you answer —
• Yes to (a), (b), (d) or (e) you are likely to be entitled to occupy the dwelling-house
• Yes to (c) or (f) you may not be entitled (unless, for example, you are a spouse or civil partner and have home rights – see notes under 'Home Rights' below)
• Yes to (b), (c), (e) or (f), the respondent is likely to be entitled to occupy the dwelling-house
• Yes to (a) or (d) the respondent may not be entitled (unless, for example, he or she is a spouse or civil partner and has home rights).

Box 1 For example, if you are sole owner, joint owner or if you rent the property. If you are not a spouse, former spouse, civil partner, former civil partner, cohabitant or former cohabitant of the respondent, you will only be able to apply for an occupation order if you fall within this category.

If you answer yes to this question, it will not be possible for a magistrates' court to deal with the application, unless the court decides that it is unnecessary for it to decide this question in order to deal with the application or make the order. If the court decides that it cannot deal with the application, it will transfer the application to a county court.

Box 2 For example, if the respondent is or was married to you, or if you and the respondent are or were civil partners, and he or she is sole owner or rents the property.

Box 3 For example, if the respondent is or was cohabiting with you and is sole owner or rents the property.

Home Rights

Where one spouse or civil partner "(A)" is entitled to occupy the dwelling-house by virtue of a beneficial estate or interest or contract or by virtue of any enactment giving him or her the right to remain in occupation, and the other spouse or civil partner "(B)" is not so entitled, then B (who is not entitled) has home rights.

The rights are—
(a) if B is in occupation, not to be evicted or excluded from the dwelling-house except with the leave of the court; and
(b) if B is not in occupation, the right, with the leave of the court, to enter into and occupy the dwelling-house.

Note: Home Rights do not exist if the dwelling-house has never been, and was never intended to be, the matrimonial or civil partnership home of the two spouses or civil partners. If the marriage or civil partnership has come to an end, home rights will also have ceased, unless a court order has been made during the marriage or civil partnership for the rights to continue after the end of that relationship.

Occupation Orders
The possible orders are:

If you have ticked box 1 above, an order under section 33 of the Act may:

• enforce the applicant's entitlement to remain in occupation as against the respondent

• require the respondent to permit the applicant to enter and remain in the dwelling-house or part of it

• regulate the occupation of the dwelling-house by either or both parties

• if the respondent is also entitled to occupy, the order may prohibit, suspend or restrict the exercise by him, of that right

• restrict or terminate any home rights of the respondent

• require the respondent to leave the dwelling-house or part of it

• exclude the respondent from a defined area around the dwelling-house

• declare that the applicant is entitled to occupy the dwelling-house or has home rights in it

• provide that the home rights of the applicant are not brought to an end by the death of the other spouse or civil partner or termination of the marriage or civil partnership.

If you have ticked box 2 or box 3 above, an order under section 35 or 36 of the Act may:

• give the applicant the right not to be evicted or excluded from the dwelling-house or any part of it by the respondent for a specified period

• prohibit the respondent from evicting or excluding the applicant during that period

• give the applicant the right to enter and occupy the dwelling-house for a specified period

• require the respondent to permit the exercise of that right

• regulate the occupation of the dwelling-house by either or both of the parties

• prohibit, suspend or restrict the exercise by the respondent of his right to occupy

• require the respondent to leave the dwelling-house or part of it

• exclude the respondent from a defined area around the dwelling-house.

If you have ticked box 4 or box 5 above, an order under section 37 or 38 of the Act may:

• require the respondent to permit the applicant to enter and remain in the dwelling-house or part of it

• regulate the occupation of the dwelling-house by either or both of the parties

• require the respondent to leave the dwelling-house or part of it

• exclude the respondent from a defined area around the dwelling-house.

You should provide any evidence which you have on the following matters in your evidence in support of this application. If necessary, further statements may be submitted after the application has been issued.

If you have ticked box 1, box 4 or box 5 above, the court will need any available evidence of the following:

• the housing needs and resources of you, the respondent and any relevant child

• the financial needs of you and the respondent

• the likely effect of any order, or any decision not to make an order, on the health, safety and well-being of you, the respondent and any relevant child

• the conduct of you and the respondent in relation to each other and otherwise.

If you have ticked box 2 above, the court will need any available evidence of:

• the housing needs and resources of you, the respondent and any relevant child

• the financial resources of you and the respondent

• the likely effect of any order, or of any decision not to make an order on the health, safety and well-being of you, the respondent and any relevant child

• the conduct of you and the respondent in relation to each other and otherwise

• the length of time that has elapsed since you and the respondent ceased to live together

• where you and the respondent were married, the length of time that has elapsed since the marriage was dissolved or annulled

• where you and the respondent were civil partners, the length of time that has elapsed since the dissolution or annulment of the civil partnership

• the existence of any pending proceedings between you and the respondent:

under section 23A of the Matrimonial Causes Act 1973 (property adjustment orders in connection with divorce proceedings etc.)

or under Part 2 of Schedule 5 to the Civil Partnership Act 2004 (property adjustment on or after dissolution, nullity or separation) or under Schedule 1 para 1(2)(d) or (e) of the Children Act 1989 (orders for financial relief against parents) or relating to the legal or beneficial ownership of the dwelling-house.

If you have ticked box 3 above, the court will need any available evidence of:

• the housing needs and resources of you, the respondent and any relevant child

• the financial resources of you and the respondent

• the likely effect of any order, or of any decision not to make an order, on the health, safety and well-being of you, the respondent and any relevant child

• the conduct of you and the respondent in relation to each other and otherwise

• the nature of your and the respondent's relationship

• the length of time during which you have lived together as husband and wife or civil partners

• whether you and the respondent have had any children, or have both had parental responsibility for any children

• the length of time that has elapsed since you and the respondent ceased to live together

• the existence of any pending proceedings between you and the respondent under Schedule 1 para 1(2)(d) or (e) of the Children Act 1989 or relating to the legal or beneficial ownership of the dwelling-house.

Section 7
Under section 40 of the Act the court may make the following additional orders when making an occupation order:

• impose on either party obligations as to the repair

• order either party to take reasonable care of any furniture or other contents

• order either party to take reasonable steps to keep the dwelling-house and any furniture or other contents secure.

Section 8
If the dwelling-house is rented or subject to a mortgage, the landlord or mortgagee must be served with notice of the proceedings in Form FL416. He or she will then be able to make representations to the court regarding the rent or mortgage.

Section 10
A person living in the same household may, for example, be a member of the family or a tenant or employee of you or the respondent.

and maintenance of the dwelling-house

• impose on either party obligations as to the payment of rent, mortgage or other outgoings affecting it

• order a party occupying the dwelling-house to make periodical payments to the other party in respect of the accommodation, if the other party would (but for the order)
be entitled to occupy it

• grant either party possession or use of furniture or other contents
