Creating Multi-Line Dossiers

You can use dossier fields and dossier pages to store additional data on your files and merge through into your documents. This guide walks you through the process of creating Dossier Pages which allow multiple entries not just single.

Select 'Case Management Setup' under the 'Supervisor' area. Now select 'Dossier Pages', which will show you the option to 'Add Dossier Page'.

On selecting this, the following screen will show:

Page Id:

NewPage

Description:

New Dossier Page

Allow multiple entries:

You can now enter the new Dossier Page ID and Dossier Page Description to be created. The description needs to be relevant the fields stored on the Dossier Page, so that it can easily be located. To make it a Multi-line page tick the option Allow multiple entries.

The Dossier Page ID will be a shorter version of the Dossier Page Description. No spaces can be used in the ID, as with the Dossier Fields, so an underscore will have to be used. The Dossier Page ID is also limited to a maximum of 15 characters.

Now select 'Save' to be returned to your list of dossier pages, with your newly created one now available for selection.

Both Dossier Page ID and Allow multiple entries will be greyed out as this cannot be edited once created.

‘W/T Links’ will allow you to link the new Dossier Page to the relevant work types or to set it as client level, which means that it will be available across all clients and matters.

Once the Dossier Page has been designed as required select 'Save' to keep any changes made.

Once saved, you will see the option to 'Preview Page'. Select this in order to see how this will look when entering details within the dossier.

Using Multi-Line Dossiers

You may amend and create records in your multiline dossier fields. Simply access the dossier page as you normally would. Your multiline field will have an Add Record option in the top left.
